OHS Challenges for Future Ready Organisations

28 August 2019

4th Floor Auditorium, Plant 13 Annexe,
Godrej & Boyce Mfg. Co Ltd. Mumbai

INVITING NOMINATIONS/ PARTNERSHIPS

The world that we live and work in is changing rapidly – Digital technologies are getting strongly embedded in multiple aspects of the workplace, Millennials and Gen Z employees are drawn towards purpose-driven organisations, the global business landscape is becoming more protectionist with trade wars between two major economic superpowers and the threat of climate change induced disaster becomes real and severe every day.

In this context, companies need to think about how they will become future-ready. It's not just about the hard stuff like Technology but it's more about the soft stuff – the people who will use Technology and develop innovative solutions to the above-mentioned problems and opportunities.

To do this requires a new code of work practices, one where people feel that their lives are respected and cared for...resulting in the need to look at OHS from a completely new lens.

The Conference will engage the following sessions

- CEO's Panel Discussion
- Best Practices by firms that are leading the way in OHS.
- Knowledge Sharing by Regulators, Policy Makers, Standard Setters and Think Tanks Promoting Safety as a Business Value
- Presentation and Recognition to the Winners of the Competition on "Best Practices in Occupational Health and Safety"
